Dr. Barton Tracks Relation Of Cell Cytoplasm to Nucleus

by Jerry Bosch

Have you ever wondered why room 211 on the second floor of the Science hall has such a clean, fresh hospital-like odor? Well, for those who don't already know, it is the combination lab and office of Dr. Jay Barton, associate professor of biology.

Since September, 1956, Room 211 has been the scene of endless experimentation in which Dr. Barton hopes to determine, if possible, the exact nature of the functional link between the cytoplasm (the living material of cells) and the nucleus of cells.

Uses Beef Liver Cells

By using a centrifuge which subjects the various soluble fractions of cells to centrifugal force at varying speeds, Dr. Barton is able to separate the components of the cells and thus analyze them more closely.

So far Dr. Barton has primarily been using beef liver and rabbit liver cells in his project.

Confirms Hypothesis

In recent experiments the chemical properties of a protein fraction from the nuclei of rabbit liver cells were compared to the properties isolated from liver microsomes (very small granules in the cytoplasm).

Results indicate that these two fractions were similar in amino acid composition, solubility, etc. This tends to confirm Dr. Barton's earlier hypothesis that the cytoplasm fractions originate in the nucleus.

To Work With Isotopes

This summer at the Argonne National Laboratories, Dr. Barton will attempt to prove more conclusively the functional similarities between the two fractions.

In addition to this, he hopes to probe still further into what he calls the cell's "information transmission system." He will use radioactive isotopes to measure the amount of protein synthesis which he hopes will determine the effects of the protein fractions as "information carriers."

May Take A Lifetime

Dr. Barton's current project gained impetus when the National Science Foundation granted him $20,000 in the summer of 1956 for the purpose of carrying out his biological research.

When will he conclude this research project? Perhaps never. Dr. Barton stated that once a scientist becomes "concerned with a solution in particular areas of science, he tries to test the solution." Sometimes this takes a lifetime.

2 Teachers Make Honor Society

In recognition of outstanding performances in their field, two members of the St. Joe teaching staff have been elected to Delta Epsilon Sigma, National Catholic Honor Society.

Dr. Robert J. Kreyche, Ph.D., has been given this honor for his work in philosophy and the many articles he has published in that field. Dr. Kreyche received his Master's Degree from the Catholic University of America and his Doctor's Degree from the University of Ottawa.

Mr. Adam P. Lesinsky, who received his Master's Degree in music from the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago, has also been chosen. Mr. Lesinsky has written many books and articles on the subject of music and has composed several pieces of his

SJC Promotes Librarians, Mr. Phillips

Effective with the beginning of the fall semester, three more members of the St. Joseph's staff will receive promotions in academic rank. Fr. Charles H. Banet, librarian, Fr. Gerard A. Lutkemeier, assistant librarian, and Mr. Howard J. Phillips, instructor in history, will join the seven staff members recently elevated in rank to make a total of 10 promotions for next September.

Fr. Charles H. Banet, A.M.L.S., who has been at Collegeville since 1952, will receive the title of associate professor. This is the first time a librarian has ever been given academic rank at St. Joe. Fr. Banet will still maintain his position as a librarian of the college but will also be an associate professor.

Promote Mr. Phillips

Along with Fr. Banet, Fr. Gerard A. Lutkemeier, B.S. in L.S., will become an assistant professor. Fr. Lutkemeier has been a member of the St. Joe staff since 1937 and will also maintain his position as assistant librarian.

Mr. Howard J. Phillips, M.A., Ph.D. (Cand.), who came to St. Joseph's in February from a teaching position at the University of Notre Dame, has been promoted to assistant professor of history. Mr. Phillips received his Master's Degree from Yale university and is a candidate for a doctor's degree at the University of Notre Dame.

New Politics Prof

Fr. Edward A. Maziarz, academic dean of the college, has also announced the addition of three more faculty members.

Mr. John Phelps, M.A., Ph.D. (Cand.) has been appointed as assistant professor of politics beginning in September. Mr. Phelps is a graduate of the University of Chicago where he is now seeking his Doctor's Degree. He has previously taught at the University of Chicago, Loyola university, and Mundelein college.

2 More Math Profs

Serving as an instructor in mathematics, Mr. Donald L. Prullage, M.A., will also begin teaching here next semester. Mr. Prullage received his Master's Degree from the University of Wisconsin and has been employed at Bendix Products division at South Bend, Ind.

Joining Mr. Prullage on the staff will be his wife, Mrs. Donald L. Prullage, M.A., who will also teach mathematics courses. Mrs. Prullage is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin along with her husband.

own. He is presently the conductor of the St. Joe band and a teacher of music.

Sophs, Juniors, Seniors Hold Class Elections

Ed McGee

Joe Gurgone, Art Kurek, Charles Lileikis, and Joe Chrustowski are the newly elected officers of the 1958-59 senior class. The offices were decided on Thursday, May 8 and a special run-off the following day which saw Gurgone beating out Tim Faylor and Pat Lavery for the presidency.

The new president comes from Chicago, Ill., while Kurek, the new vice-president hails from Kitchener, Ontario, Canada. Thenew secretary, Charles Lileikis is also from Chicago, Ill. Joe Chrustowski, who also was treasurer of this year's junior class, is from Whiting, Ind.

O'Connor Wins Again

Meanwhile on the same day, Maurice O'Connor, Bob Gallaher, Jack Bellucci, and Ed Massura won the elections for the junior class officers for next year.

O'Connor, who was president of this year's sophomore class, is a native of Evansville, Ind., while Gallaher, Bellucci, and Massura, who will fill the posts of vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively, are residents of Chicago, Ill.

Kelly Wins Again

A few days earlier the new sophomore class held their elections with Larry Kelly, Elmer Nett, Marty Waters, and Richard Shaw winning the posts of president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively.

President Kelly, who also was president of this year's freshman class, is from Marion, Ohio, while the new vice-president, Elmer Nett, who was freshman class treasurer, hails from Fond du lac, Wis. The new secretary Richard Shaw comes from Lansing, Mich. and the new treasurer Marty Waters from Rego Park, N. Y.

PROM SCHEDULE

Friday, May 23, 1958

9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m.—Revels at Raleigh hall featuring The Jack Duffy Quintet

Saturday, May 24, 1958

2:00 p.m.—SJC Concert Orchestra

3:00 to 5:00 p.m.—Social at Raleigh hall (selection of prom queen)

5:15 to 6:30 p.m.—Informal Candle-lite Dinner

9:00 p.m. to 2:00 a.m.—Shangri-la with Duke Ellington

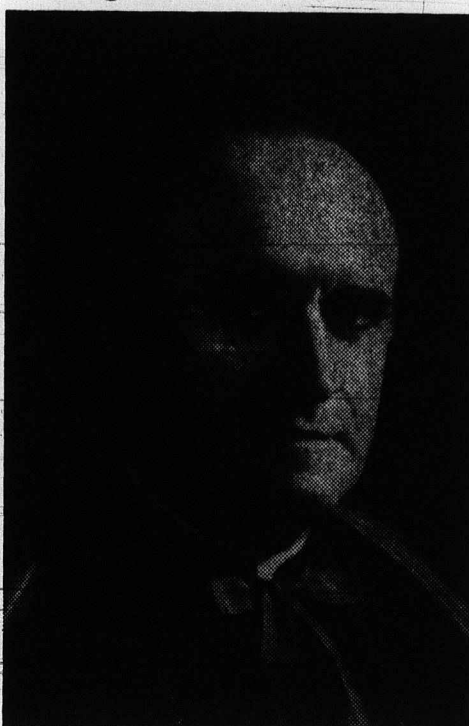

by Jerry Mauch

Commencement exercises for 100 graduating seniors will be held on Sunday, June 8, with the Most Rev. John J. Carberry, Bishop of Lafayette-in-Indiana, scheduled to deliver the commencement address.

Beginning with a Solemn High Mass in the morning, the graduates will be honored throughout the day by their parents, guests, and members of the faculty. Following Mass, graduation pictures are to be taken, after which dinner will be served in the college cafeteria.

Graduation ceremonies will begin at 2:00, during which the graduates will hear the commencement address by Bishop Carberry and the valedictory address to be given by James O'Brien.

Along with the 100 diplomas presented, honorary degrees will be awarded to Bishop Carberry and Mr. Paul C. Tonner, B. Mus., professor of music at St. Joseph's since 1918. Bishop Carberry will receive the Honorary Doctor of Laws degree given for action and performance. Mr. Tonner will receive the Honorary Doctor of Letters degree for performance in the field of music. He has written many articles, music books, choral and voice compositions in his 40 years on the St. Joseph's teaching staff.

Mascotte Wins Oratory Contest

by Jim Chambers

John Mascotte, a freshman from Ft. Wayne, Ind., won the Msgr. T. M. Conroy Memorial gold medal and $15 in cash for his speech "The Unsilent Generation," a commentary on the controversial Princeton letters, at the annual Conroy oratory contest. The contest was held on Wednesday evening, May 14, in the auditorium.

A highly humorous condemnation of "Litterbugs" merited second place and a ten dollar cash prize for Eugene Wible, a sophomore seminarian from Canton, Ohio. In the number three position was William McCrea, a sophomore from Delevan, Ill., who spoke on "America's Virtue Vanishing."

Fr. Conroy Makes Awards

Francis Krupa, a sophomore from Cincinnati, Ohio, won fourth place with "Our Democracy's Defect—The Parents' Problem." Krupa and McCrea were awarded five dollars each.

The nephew of Msgr. Conroy and himself one of the first winners of the contest, Fr. James J. Conroy was on hand to make the awards. Fr. Conroy has sponsored the contest for many years as a tribute to his uncle, the founder.

27 Original Speakers

Mr. Peter A. Holub, Mr. Louis C. Gatto, and Fr. Raymond M. Cera served as judges, and Mr. Ralph M. Cappuccilli acted as chairman. William Moriarty, Wayne Kassel, Luke Scheer, James Sullivan, and Thomas DeClercq also competed.

The nine finalists were chosen from a group of 27 participants in the preliminaries, which were held on Monday, May 12. Fr. Kaiser, Sr. Anthonita, and Fr. Gerlach were the judges on this occasion.

St. Joe Vets Club Elects New Officers

Juniors Mark Doorley, Jay Hyde, and Bob Lippie and freshman Ed McGee were recently elected as officers of the Vets club for next year.

Doorley will replace graduating senior Bill Walsh as president, while Hyde will succeed vice-president Vic Bortolami, who also is graduating. Lippie and McGee will assume the duties of secretary and treasurer replacing the graduating incumbents, Pat Ford and Don Cebulski.

A reception in Raleigh Hall will follow the commencement exercises.

The seniors graduating on June 8, with their degrees, are: Byron Andorfer, B.A. in accounting; James Archer, B.A. in history; Anthony Baldin, B.S. in marketing; Joseph Baldin, B.S. in marketing; Fred Bauer, B.S. in accounting; John Bian, B.S. in marketing; and Alfred Biannucci, B.S. in accounting.

Also graduating are: John Biel, B.S. in marketing; Thomas Biel, B.A. in economics; William Blakeley, B.A. in English; Frank Blenke, B.S. in general business; Richard Bodney, B.A. in English-Journalism; Larry Boylson, B.A. in geology; William Brinkman, B.S. in education; and John Burke, B.S. in accounting.

Other graduates are: Patrick Butler, B.S. in biology; Emil Caballero, B.S. in marketing; Larry Carie, B.S. in physical education; Donald Cebulski, B.A. in geology; Robert Christen, B.S. in accounting; John Cochran, B.S. in marketing; Ronald Cole, B.S. in education; Peter Conroy, B.A. in geology; and Donald Curry, B.A. in accounting.

Joseph Dalla-Betta, B.A. in history; Paul Danko, B.S. in general business; James Deahl, B.S. in marketing; Thomas DeBolt, B.A. in economics; James Elbert, B.S. in physical education; Richard Festle, B.A. in general business; and Keith Fingerhout, B.A. in general business will also graduate.

Still more graduates are: Patrick Ford, B.S. in marketing; William Franz, B.S. in accounting; Michael Freiburg, B.A. in economics; Thomas Gruehe, B.A. in philosophy; Robert Gehring, B.S. in general business; Robert Hamman, B.S. in marketing; John Hammer, B.S. in general business; and Michael Hardin, B.A. in English.

Others receiving degrees are: Kevin Hensley, B.S. in biology; Gregory Jancich, B.A. in history; Leonard Kasperowicz, B.S. in biology; Neil Kelliher, B.A. in English; Robert Kilbourne, B.S. in general business; John Klimcak, B.S. in general business; Kouis Kun, B.A. in history; Jerome Lachnicht, B.A. in economics; and Charles Lancaster, B.A. in history.

Others are: Robert Li, B.A. in geology; Francis Loftus, B.S. in biology; George Lux, B.A. in English; Patrick Lynch, B.A. in economics; William McCarthy, B.S. in marketing; Donald McCoy, B.A. in history; Max McRoberts, B.S. in education; Thomas Mahoney, B.A. in English; Charles Maloney, B.S. in accounting; and George Melone, B.A. in history.

Other new alumni are: Thomas Mario, B.S. in mathematics; Leroy Metker, B.A. in biology; Francis Mulcahey, B.S. in physical education; James O'Brien, B.A. in English; Robert O'Brien, B.A. in history; Terrence O'Hagan, B.A. in history; Richard Oehmke, B.S. in chemistry; and John O'Neil, B.S. in bio-chemistry.

Thanks Loyal Stuffmen!

See You Next Year

With this the last issue of STUFF for the 1957-58 school year we would like to thank all those who made it possible for us to bring 14 issues to the student body.

Maybe in the past year we didn't have all the news that you would like to have seen in the paper but there are many circumstances which militate against our being as up-to-date as possible.

The first and most obvious reason is that STUFF is a bi-weekly which quite naturally puts it in a position of sometimes having a good deal of news which has come to be called, and rightly so, "old stuff."

The second and often neglected reason is that STUFF did not have enough students who were interested in seeing that the paper was more appealing. The student newspaper is a student activity which needs just as much support as any social, athletic, or academic club.

Between The Lines

by Greg Mahoney

Once we pass through the jungle of semester exams and burst out into the freedom of summer vacation, we'll undoubtedly look back at the past nine months with nostalgia. Right now, you may not think you'll miss god ole St. Joe, but you will. While you're stretched out on some beautiful beach, or while you're gliding into some remote Drive-In in the middle of July, you'll find yourself remembering what happy days were spent at St. Joe.

Remember the pride you felt when you saw the remodeled cafeteria and Rec hall back in September? . . . Things were a little gloomy in the home of the ICC champs when the Pumas dropped their opener to Xavier again, but Klein, Fingerhut, Tite & Co. went on to keep the conference crown on Bob Jauron's head for the third straight year . . . In October, Valpo's new team mascot, the flu bug, hit Collegeville, but not hard enough to hamper Homecoming.

Thanks to Russia, everyone in Indiana became amateur rocket rangers and sputnik spotters . . . The students and faculty became united in the proposition that free speech and free coffee go together . . . The Puma cagers won one less conference game than they did in '56-'57, lost one very fine coach, and gained another equally as fine . . . The annual Retreat brought home the realization that Somebody Up There really does like us . . . And the annual fight for survival of the fittest, known as the Dean's List, raged on through the Mid-terms.

Remember how proud you felt showing your parents around your spotless room and beautiful campus on Parents' Day? . . . Science Day gave some hope to America that not all the scientific brains are behind the Iron Curtain . . . Illness caused a mild coup d'etat as The Duke replaced The Count . . . The Class of '58 was poised on the threshold of a dog-eat-dog and an Army-grab-graduate world.

The school year 1957-58 saw something new and something old, something added and something subtracted at Collegeville . . . St. Joseph's boasted the largest enrollment in its 67-year history, over 900, but along the way, a few embarrassing incidents depleted the ranks . . . New to the Pumaville scene was the construction of Halas and Gallagher halls, while sturdy, reliable Drexel preserved the eastern frontier of the campus against the onslaughts of wild pigs and cows.

Two institutions passed from the Collegeville scene. The reassuring, comforting voice of George, the Friendly Postmaster, was no more to be heard in the Post Office, and Brother Dave was called to a Higher Assignment . . . New faculty members were sent onto the battlefield of the blackboard and blue book, and the 8:00 class was as sure as death and taxes.

Some things didn't change, though. Mystery meat, shrimp on Fridays, Maple Lanes, a winning football team, St. Mary-of-the-Woods, Kanne's, Schaefer Lake on a spring day, the sadist joke, the Regina concert, and STUFF every other Thursday are as much a part of St. Joe as the Twin Towers.

In the following years it is possible, with the increase in enrollment and prestige of St. Joseph's college, that STUFF may become a weekly. This would in one way make the paper more interesting from the standpoint of having more up-to-date news.

It is quite unlikely that STUFF will become a weekly in the next year or two. So therefore, the only way that STUFF can be better next year is to have more students interested in the paper.

This brings up the question: What constitutes student interest? This is a question which each individual has to answer for himself because each individual is going to have more or less enthusiasm than the other.

The only way that STUFF is going to be "bigger and better than ever" is that it have the cooperation of the whole college community and an enthusiastic group of workers and backers who will do their utmost to achieve this end result.

In the past, opportunities to offer suggestions for the improvement of STUFF have been present, but only a few availed themselves of the opportunity of offering constructive criticism.

Too many seemed to criticize when it was too late to do anything about it, and then it was more of a gripe than anything else.

Once again thanks to all those who made this year's issues of STUFF possible.

Marian Players Present Comedy

by Jim Chambers

"Light Up the Sky," a comedy in three acts, was presented by the Marian Theatre Guild of St. John's parish, Whiting, Ind., in the auditorium on Thursday evening, May 15.

The Marian players are members of the Indiana Catholic Theatre Conference, as are the Columbian Players of St. Joe, and they played host to the CP's and six other drama groups at the annual festival of plays this March.

An "Average" Script

The play was set in Boston on the opening night of the first play written by a struggling young author, Peter Sloan. It involves the reactions of the temperamental leading lady, the over-emotional director, and the money-hungry producer when it appears that the play has "laid an egg." All turns out for the best, however, because the morning papers bring high praise for all concerned.

The play itself is a conventional vaudeville farce, especially during the first two acts, which abound with corn and typed situations.

Professional Polish

During the third act, the play became serious and showed a bit more originality and depth. On the whole, however, it was at best an "average" script.

But the performers outdid themselves in squeezing every last drop of entertainment from the play. The characterizations, stage movements, and timing combined to give it a truly professional polish.

Good Job - Poor Material

In particular, Bette Furiak as the actress, Jack Taylor as the producer, and Conrad Blasco as the director, who is always so moved he "could cry," are to be congratulated for outstanding performances. More orchids also to Jack Taylor for his excellent direction; not one amateurish mistake was to be seen throughout the show.

The Marian Theatre guild is a very talented group and proved it by turning a mediocre play into enjoyable entertainment. They deserve better material.

Collegeville Confidential

by Tim J. Sullivan, Jr.

Well, guys, here it is, the last issue of STUFF for this year, and, the last issue of Collegeville Confidential also. We could say the usual, that it's been fun writing for you and so forth, but most of you know it's nothing but a lot of hard work, figuring out what to put in here each week, so we won't say anything at all, just thanks for telling us what has happened to all of your buddies, and thanks for reading us each week.

Hi-lights . . .

Like we said above, it's been a good year, with some darn funny things happening. For you people who don't save every issue of STUFF to look back on in later years, we'd like to review some of the things we thought were funny. It is time for review, as all good students know. Just look in the library any time of the day or night.

Here goes on some of the happenings . . . All the swastikas and hammer-and-sickle symbols on the "Black Maria" belonging to our Dean of Men . . . Davie Karka and his Accordion . . . The Mickey Mouse Club in Bennett . . . George Daumeyer and his running companion . . . the "Name the Cat Contest" . . . Carl Kozlevcar's telegram, and our reporting of same . . . Willie Walters and his noise maker disrupting "My Fair Lady" in Chi . . . The Olympic Drinking Team . . . the "Ode to the Homecoming Revels" . . .

And, last but not least, as the old saying goes, the theft of the Student Council Siren . . . Like we said, it's been a good year. Anyone disagree?

Pumaville Best Seller List

1. Cost Accounting . . . by Fr. Baird
2. Mein Kampf . . . by Fr. Schaefer
3. The Wild One . . . by Fr. Wellman
4. Kleptomaniacs I Have Known . . . by "Abe" Wozniak
5. Das Kapital . . . by Dr. Jones
6. Turf Management . . . by Fr. M. Dreiling
7. The Betty Crocker Cook Book . . . by Miss Skinner
8. Cowboy . . . by Bro. Larry
9. Judo in Ten Easy Lessons . . . by Fr. Maziarz

Funny Sights and Sounds . . . next time you see Frank Rastigue, ask him how he got so tall so sudden . . . You might also ask Miss Skinner why she was eating at the Drive-In last Fri. night . . . That's about it for this year . . . Here's hoping we see you all back next year . . . It wouldn't be right to end this column, of all columns, with anything else but what was cut out last time for lack of space . . . so, remember all summer . . .

. . . No man is poor as long as he can still laugh . . .

What Do You Think?

With the many rules and improvements instituted by the administration this past year for the welfare of the student body, it seems, judging from the campus bull sessions, that the parking situation is the one thing that needs the most improvement during the summer. What restrictions would you lift on present parking regulations and what improvements would you make in present parking facilities?

Pat Lavery, junior, Chicago, Ill.

In my opinion the parking regulations and parking facilities are ridiculous. The parking lot is not only poorly situated but it is also poor ground to park on. Because of the lack of space, students are not allowed to park in front of the Science hall and Merlini hall.

I think that it is possible to have a more centrally located and better kept up parking lot. This is something which will have to be worked out, though, in due time.

John Fox, junior, Canton, Ohio

I believe that the present parking regulations are fair. However, the parking facilities could stand much improvement, especially in surface and lighting.

The surface could be improved by grading, putting in a firm foundation, and eliminating the large boulders now present. The lighting, while adequate for the center of the lot, provides no light at the ends where all leaving and entering the lot must walk.

Mr. Kelly Explains Movie Selection

To the Editor of STUFF,
Collegeville, Ind.,
Dear Sir:

Inasmuch as the recent issues of STUFF carried several comments on the subject of the campus movies, it seems that some explanation may well be made at this time.

Much of the comment dealt with the problem of the selection of the movies. Our problem is unique in that we have very little chance of making any selection at all.

During the past school year, for example, the major American studios released a total of 224 films. Of this number only 152 were given a rating by the Legion of Decency of A-1 or A-2.

While we exhibit about 50 movies during the school year, we are in the unusual position of showing only two films per week. Under this circumstance, we are forced to "grab" every third film that passes through the Indianapolis film exchanges bureau.

This is our situation in so far as the selection is concerned. We have no choice but to take every third movie from a total of 152 available to us.

Sincerely,
Paul E. Kelly

Wally Rossmannith, junior, Rensselaer, Ind.
Being a day student, I am concerned with the parking problem. First of all, I think that a better parking lot could be provided behind the Rec hall for day students, teachers, etc. The parking lot next to the White House certainly needs improvement also.

Next year when the new halls are open, I think that driving on any campus roads should be permitted. Any improvements in parking regulations and facilities will be greatly appreciated by the student body.

Charles Laipply, junior, Van Wert, Ohio

The improvement necessary would be the construction of an adequate parking lot, not a rock-covered bog. A few lights could be used not only to enable the student to find his car but also that he can get to it without stepping in mud puddles, tripping over logs, and stumbling on other obstacles.

In general, the regulations are all right but the facilities leave a little to be desired.

George Esposito, junior, Akron, Ohio

The present parking regulations are fine but the present parking facilities are rather inadequate to say the least. I am speaking here of the so-called parking lot that supposedly exists at the west end of campus.

This parking lot more closely resembles a swamp, particularly after a heavy rain. Between the floating logs and the boulders, it is a wonder that anyone can find his car amidst this bog of mud, stones, and various and sundry miscellaneous matter.

Getting out is even worse than getting in. Driving through this really makes driving a car a drudgery.

I sincerely hope that next year I will be able to park my car in a paved lot without having it sink up to its hubcaps and without having to put on my hip boots before I wade over to the hall.

STUFF

Published bi-weekly during the school year, except during the calendar holidays of Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter and mid-year examinations by students of St. Joseph's College. Out At Home

Bob Hamman's attempt to score is foiled by the Butler catcher, as the next batter, Angie Dattomo, watches horrified.

St. Joe Power Crushes Huntington College, 14-4

by Tom Donahue

After spotting Huntington college two runs in the first inning, St. Joseph's college Pumas came back with six runs of their own in the bottom of the first and coasted to a 14-4 victory in a game played on the St. Joe field, Thursday, May 15.

Jim Koehler started the rally for the Pumas with a single through the box as he led off the inning. Second baseman Tom Freehill followed with a long home run which hit some 350 feet down the right field line. Catcher Tom Deem walked and was safe at second when the Huntington shortstop bobbled first baseman Jack Finnegan's ground ball.

Kuzniar Doubles in 2

With two men on and still no outs, Puma right fielder Bob Hamman lined a single to left, Deem scoring and Finnegan taking third. The next man up popped up but third baseman George Rickord smashed the first ball pitched to the third baseman who bobbled it long enough for Finnegan to score and to allow the runners to be safe at first and second.

Shortstop Ray Kuzniar followed Rickord with a double down the right field line which enabled the fifth and sixth runs of the inning to score.

Freehill Scores Again

St. Joseph enjoyed a 10-4 lead as they came to bat in the last half of the sixth inning. Before the inning was over the Pumas had added four more insurance runs.

Tom Freehill scored run number 11 for the St. Joe nine when his line drive to right field was dropped by the right fielder. The ball got by the right fielder and Freehill jaunted around the bases and scored.

Second Game Called

With two out in the inning Finnegan walked and took second when Hamman was safe on an error. Carl Kozlevcar, who took over left field for Redelman in the fourth, lined a double to left center which scored both runners. Kuzniar then singled through the box to drive Kozlevcar home with the final tally.

The game was a seven inning affair which was to be the first part of a doubleheader, but the second contest was cancelled because of rain.

INTRAMURAL SCOREBOARD

by Mike Goldrick

Well, the Bennett Gamokes will leave the St. Joe campus with their diplomas, and the school softball titles tucked neatly under their arms. The Gamokes completely overpowered their two closest rivals in the 16" league in recently played games. They showed championship form in smashing the Noll 7-7's, 25-7 and then by smearing the Ad Building Ables, 20-8. Both teams had been previously unbeaten.

In the 12" league it was almost the same story. The Gamokes walloped their closest contender, the Vets Nine, 17-2, to virtually clinch the title with only one game remaining.

Standings for both leagues as of May are as follows:

16" League
	W L
Bennett Gamokes	11 0
Noll 7-7's	9 1
Ad Bldg. Ables	8 1
Ichibons	8 3
Drexel D-T's	8 3
Merlini Kayos	8 3
W. Seifert White Lillies	5 5
Power House Misfits	5 6
Noll Fubars	4 6
E. Seifert Pop-Ups	4 7
E. Seifert Easterners	4 8
E. Seifert High-Lifters	4 8
Merlini Nemesis	3 7
Noll Nine Plus One	3 8
Gaspar Falcons	3 8
W. Seifert Sox	3 9
Gaspar Blockbusters	2 8

Noll hall virtually clinched the All-Sports-Trophy by taking another championship when Jerry Bosch flipped his way to the singles championship in horseshoes. Noll is dominating the doubles tournament in horseshoes with three teams remaining, all representing Noll. Noll built up an insurmountable lead early in the year with victories in football, basketball, and volleyball and have coasted the rest of the way.

The IM office headed by Coach Robert Shemky and Student Director Roger Redelman would like to congratulate the students for the fine showing they have made in all the many sports sponsored by the IM office this year. Congratulations should also go in turn to Coach Shemky and his student assistants who have capably guided Intramural sports.

In closing, a salute to the Bennett Gamokes who have become somewhat of a tradition in IM sports for the four years they have been at St. Joe. Good luck! See you next year.

Improved Hitting, Pitching Boost Puma Chances For ICC Crown

by Dave Carey

Closing their most successful season since 1955 will be the St. Joseph's baseball team when they travel to Muncie for a double header with the lowly Ball State Cardinals.

The Pumas, with a double victory, will be in a position to win the ICC baseball championship, provided league-leading Indiana State drops a pair of Evansville. If the Sycamores split, then a co-championship could be in order with the co-leaders never having met. The St. Joe-ISTC double header at Terre Haute was rained out May 3.

SJ Hitters Improve

Ball State will have two All-ICC selections in their line-up in the persons of two-time choice first-baseman Wayne Campbell and outfielder Earl Van Sickle. Campbell was the Cardinals' leading batter last year with a .400 batting average for 10 games. Van Sickle led the conference in RBI's with 11, while placing seventh among the leading hitters with a .364 mark.

Much of the Pumas' improvement this year over their dismal 1957 showing is undoubtedly due to the much improved performances at the plate. As a team, the St. Joseph's batters are clubbing the ball at a .294 clip as compared to last year's .222. The Pumas have banked out 24 extra-base blows on contrast to eight hit all last season.

Gagliano Ties Record

Currently leading the attack is Tom Deem, who sports a .400 batting average. Close behind him are Carl Kozlevcar and Jack Finnegan, each with .390 marks. Finnegan, whose grand-slam home run beat Evansville 8-7 Apr. 19, is the Pumas' top RBI man with 15. In all, St. Joseph's has six regulars who are hitting .300 or better.

The Pumas have already broken the all-time conference team record of seven triples in a season with nine hit this year. Jim Gagliano has a chance to break the all-time individual record of most triples in a season—his three this year have tied that mark. The all-time high team batting average is .304, set by St. Joseph's in 1953. The Pumas are presently hitting .312 for eight ICC games.

Puma Pitchers Tough

Pitching wise, the St. Joe moundsmen have a combined earned run average of 2.57 as compared to last year's 3.38. Puma ace Greg Jancich has the top earned run average on the staff with 0.34 for 26 innings. He finished with a 3-0 record and had struck out 35 while yielding only eight hits.

Greg Grothouse has a 2-0 record with an ERA of 1.37 for 26 innings, and Ed Vrdolyak is 2-1 with a 15 inning ERA of 3.60.

Varsity Views

by Tom Donahue

With the doubleheader this Saturday against Ball State the Puma nine will close out what has been a very successful season. Not ticketed to go far in the conference this year, particularly because the team lacked experience, they could possibly end up with the title. They'd have to take Ball State twice while first place Indiana State is dropping two to Evansville.

Everything is up in the air at the moment, what with Valpo winning two last Saturday and moving ahead of us by percentage points, but at least we're still in the race. That double washout with Indiana State recently is looming as the big factor now. If we could have taken them twice we'd be on top of the heap right now. It's a fair bet to say that Jancich would have won one of the games and good showing from either Dattomo or Grothouse, or both, might have been the deciding factor in the other game. This is pure speculation, of course, but then you can't deny that this was the year we could hold our own with any team in the conference.

If you were to look for the one factor that made the Pumas such a vastly improved team over last year's squad, I think you'd have to say it was the pitching. In the first place the conference schedule allowed Coach Shemky to throw Jancich every time, since all the games were played on Saturday and he was rested. Then Dattomo's arm held up fairly well and that was a lethal one-two punch we were throwing at the opposition.

Greg Grothouse and Ed Vrdolyak came through in nice fashion and rounded out the core of the pitching staff.

Bob Hamman, who didn't play last season, was back in the line up and his steak work added zing to the batting order. And don't forget the job turned in by Jack Finnegan at first. Only a sophomore this year, he'll be hard to keep out of the starting lineup from here on out. Tom Deem and Tom Freehill added a potent punch to the hitting attack. This was a club that had pitching and power. It isn't hard to see why they are still in contention for the conference crown.

One of the new residence halls, Halas, nears completion as it is readied for a new supply of 1958-59 Pumas.

New Halas, Gallagher Hall Add To Pumaville Skyline

by Tim J. Sullivan, Jr.

The new halls are nearing completion. Where there was nothing but a field, scarred by bulldozers, a few trucks, and a large pile of bricks and mortar, now stand two three-story residence halls. On the exterior, the halls look much the same as any other building in the process of being built. The windows have large "x's" painted on them to prevent workers from inadvertently breaking them. There are large piles of dirt here and there, and various pieces of equipment sitting about, waiting to be used.

It is when one enters through a door frame after stepping over a ditch and three or four planks that one can see the progress being made. The buildings have been promised for occupancy in time for the beginning of school in September, and, if work continues at its present pace, the promise will be fulfilled.

21 Rooms on Each Floor

In basic design and construction, the two halls will be alike. At present, however, Gallagher is somewhat behind as far as actual work done is concerned. Each hall has a student lounge and a prefect's room on each floor.

There are to be 21 rooms on each floor, each housing two men. The rooms are spacious, with tile floors and acoustical tile ceilings. There is also to be a large closet, incorporated into the wall, in each room. Almost three fourths of the outside walls are glass.

Gallagher Near Noll

Toilet and shower facilities will both be reached by the same door. However, they will be separated by a wall.

The first of the two units, the one nearest Noll, will be known as Gallagher hall. Of the two, it is the farthest from completion. Outside walls are up, windows are in, and a rough coat of plaster has been applied to the inside walls. The plumbers are still working also, mainly on the basic pipes and connections. There is still much to be done. Tile must be laid on floors and ceilings, a "finish coat" of plaster must be applied, washroom facilities installed.

A Bigger St. Joe

The second of the two units, to be known as Halas hall, is much nearer completion. The third floor has part of its floor tile laid, washroom facilities are installed, closets are being installed, and the "finish coat" of plaster has been applied in most rooms. The other two floors are in varying degrees of completion.

All in all, it was quite a change from the Maternity Ward atmosphere of a month ago. A bigger and better Pumaville is on the rise.

5 SJ Seniors Win Fellowship 50 Grad School

Five St. Joe seniors recently received graduate fellowships. Those receiving fellowships are: Donald Cebulski, Patrick Lynch, Richard Oehmke, Martin D. Ryan, and Frank Strezo.

Cebulski, a geology major at St. Joseph's, received an assistantship at Texas A&M, College Station, Tex. Patrick Lynch, who majored in economics, will be on a teaching assistantship at the University of Purdue, while Richard Oehmke will attend the University of Detroit on a chemistry assistantship.

Martin Ryan will also enter Purdue's graduate school on a sociology assistantship. He will also do graduate research in sociology. Frank Strezo received the Bishop O'Hara Fellowship awarded by Notre Dame University. Strezo will concentrate on history in his graduate studies.

In addition to the fellowships, James O'Brien of Cincinnati, O., was named as class valedictorian by his classmates at a meeting of the senior class on Monday, May 20.

O'Connell Takes Coaching Job In Mishawaka

Dale O'Connell, who resigned as head basketball coach at St. Joseph's college last February, has taken a new position as head football coach and physical education teacher at the new Penn Township high school in Mishawaka, Ind.

O'Connell will also be head swimming and track coach and assistant basketball coach. He will assume his new duties in August.

New High School

Bill Brinkman, All-Indiana Collegiate conference guard at St. Joseph's who will graduate in June, will go with O'Connell as head basketball and wrestling coach and will assist O'Connell in football.

Construction on the Penn Township high school is just being completed and its doors will be opened for the first time next September.

3 Years At St. Joe

In announcing the appointment, Vernon J. Freed, Penn Township trustee, said that O'Connell was named on the basis of his background, particularly at St. Joseph's where in three years he compiled a head basketball coaching record of 32-31.

Two of those seasons were winning ones, only the second and third for the Puma five since World War II. O'Connell was also assistant football coach during his three years at St. Joe.

Experience Pays Off

"We've reached an agreement whereby, for the first season at least," Fred explained, O'Connell will have as his assistant in football Bob Brady, our new basketball coach, and O'Connell in turn, will assist Brady in basketball."

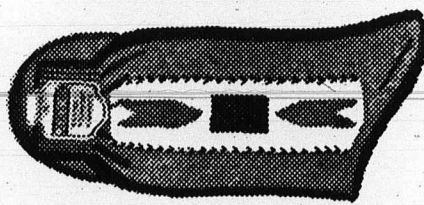

"Both O'Connell and Brady have considerable experience in both sports and it is hoped this arrangement will get our athletic policy off to a good start," the trustee continued.
